THE MANAGING DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Esteemed customers, breeders, farmers, livestock keepers, inseminators and all stakeholders, KAGRC takes pride in the establishment of the ultra-modern Goat A.I Centre located in Ndomba; Kirinyaga County. I am therefore delighted to present to you the 1st edition of the KAGRC Goat (Buck) catalogue -2023/2024 as the organization steadily advances in addressing farmers' needs pertaining to improvement of livestock breeds in Kenya and beyond. The use of Artificial Insemination (AI) in goats will play a key role in improvement of goat productivity and thus significantly to the dairy value chain development in line with the Bottom-up Economic Transformation Agenda (BETA).

This maiden edition of the buck catalogue details information on sires and dams of the bucks that are in semen production. We are certain that it will provide good guidance to the inseminators, farmers and goat breeders in making informed breeding decisions. KAGRC bucks are recruited by the Centre's Genetic Advisory Committee, that is composed of breed experts and Geneticists through careful selection of registered and officially milk-recorded contract mating Dams with superior production and conformation traits. At three months, kids are carefully selected from the best proven sires with outstanding balance in production, fertility, health traits and longevity. In the current edition; majority of the buck genetics originate from the United Kingdom in order to provide diversity in the genetic material.

All stakeholders are encouraged to make extensive use of the KAGRC bucks while young for improved meat and milk production, in addition to producing quality replacement stock as well as wealth creation.

Dr. David K. Kios, PhD, HSC
KAGRC Managing Director.

This is because goats have the ability to survive in different environmental conditions and can be easily acquired with a relatively modest starting capital investment.

We thank all persons that have contributed to the compilation of this high quality and informative catalogue. It is delightful to note the tireless efforts and expertise of the Genetic Advisory Committee, breeders and other stakeholders from which the livestock keepers and farmers will benefit by utilizing this buck catalogue for their breeding needs. We look forward to your feedback for continuous improvement in the production of future editions of the catalogue.

Dr. David K. Kios, PhD, HSC
KAGRC Managing Director.
